

AUTHOR Robin G Howard

An Invitation To All - SEEKERS of the PSYCHIC TRUTH

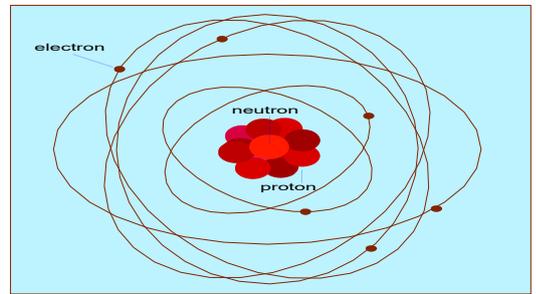

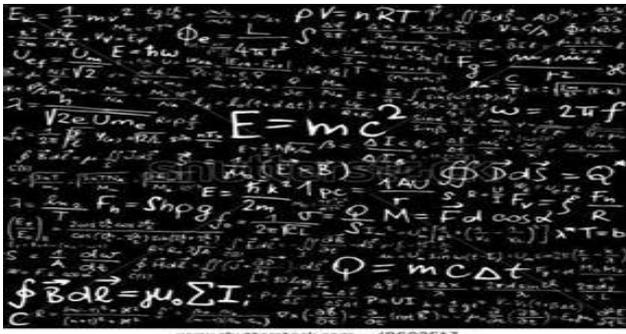

Sit down, relax and look upon a mat black covered rectangular screen. Let your eyes release their tense gaze and stay open as the muscles unbend into a soft unblinking stare. Your mind is still active with the events of the day as you slowly relax even more. The black void in front of your eyes seems cold and lifeless just a small dark area of nothingness. You hold the image in your mind through your eyes as they become even more relaxed and tend to give a double image. This means your eyes are conditioned and remaining open as your whole body starts to relax. Your mind now begins to focus into the blackness trying to pull images from the quantum substance in your brain, tiny particles smaller than an atom that exist within the brain's core. This is the quantum ethereal mist. We leave the blackboard for a moment in trying to explain this fundamental force.

This cloud can take you on a voyage of discovery into unimaginable worlds and existences that coexist alongside our own. The perceptions of the traveller released in feelings or emotions. The state of mind you are trying to achieve is likened to the early morning as your brain awakens. There is a short period of time as this happens when your awareness of the quantum state becomes real. You are half awake and half asleep in this short period of time and open to other realities.

You may hear a voice calling your name as though someone is beside you in the bed such is the reality. You may witness several scenes, some tranquil some violent. For instance, you could be in the centre of a huge firework display the noise and violent explosions shaking all around you. You will 'feel' it more than see it except for the pattern of flashes. The voice calling your name may be soft or sharp and urgent. The tone of the voice gives insight be it welcome or warning. Your name being shouted should cause apprehension a sign of something to come. A soft and gentle voice is a greeting showing you love from an unknown source. The state of mind that occurs in a waking dream can plunge you into a future event causing others to believe you are in a state of madness. The physical brain and mind is conditioned to repel such anomalies and degrade the recipient.

We are conditioned to remain and live in a physical environment but underneath that physical shell are other realities. Clairvoyants, astrologers and psychics tap into this quantum essence that is located out of time. Therefore, time predictions cannot be made causing many of them to falter in this area. Such a future incident seen could happen 3 to 5 years hence. There is also a chaos chapter in future predictions – the possible, the probable and the actual. There are many branches of time that can change the actual outcome, but there are many 'actuals' already in existence.

Returning to the blackboard is just another method to help you feel and acknowledge the incredible quantum force within you. Contemplating the board for 10 minutes or so relaxes the mind and places it into an 'awakening state' (Like the early morning awakening previously mentioned.)

Once you reach this level you will observe shadowy shapes moving in different directions across the board. Your ethereal spirit is now ready to function. Depending on what you are allowed to see; your mind will not throw you into danger, whether it is something in the future or in the past. The shadows will turn into full colour images of whatever you need to view. This will astound you and in doing so may crash you out of the sequence. Yes, the startling fact is that you will be looking at a full colour image on a blackboard. An image conjured from the quantum essence in your brain.

I wish you good luck in your efforts to achieve this goal.

This article has been written by Robin G Howard author of the Jim long space agent series (science fiction fantasy) and the non fiction 'How to Think like a Modern Mystic.' This book covers amazing theories channelled by the author in the quest of right and wrong, the truth of existence, the genesis of life and much more.

All books are available from - www.allinterestbooks.co.uk - and <http://www.sciemcefictionfantasy.uk>

<http://www.allinterestbooks.co.uk/mysticismhowtop4.html>

www.robingshoward.co.uk

This article may be copied in its entirety only by any webmaster or site owner. This includes the URL's